Forest Stewardship – As a professional timber harvester, my company is responsible for ensuring the long-term sustainability of Pennsylvania's forests during our timber harvesting operations. This necessitates sustaining the economic value of current and future timber products, the environmental benefits provided by the forests, and the social values that Pennsylvanians derive from using and interacting with our forests. This training will help my company to better steward these values and resources and comply with the state and federal regulations that govern timber harvesting in Pennsylvania. This training will also help my company comply with the requirements of the Pennsylvania SFI Professional Timber Harvester Training Program.

Personal Safety – With timber harvesting being one of the most dangerous occupations in Pennsylvania, this training will help my company be safer in carrying out harvesting operations. Safety training will first and foremost guard personnel against life-changing injuries or fatalities and prepare our company for emergency response, and secondarily reduce company downtime resulting from staff being off from work due to injuries. It will also help my company comply with pertinent aspects of OSHA regulations and with the requirements of the Pennsylvania SFI Professional Timber Harvester Training Program.
